CUHK Organises Large-Scale China Career Development Award Programme Press Invitation

As the economy of Hong Kong becomes increasingly integrated with that of China, more and more employers are looking for people with experience in and knowledge of business operations in China. To better prepare our students for the challenges of these developments, the Office of Student Affairs (OSA), The Chinese University of Hong Kong, with the assistance from the Office of Academic Links (China) initiates the CUHK China Career Development Award Programme in the summer of 1997. The Programme is the most organised and largest in scale among tertiary institutions in Hong Kong.

The objective of the Programme is to broaden the experience and perspective of the students by providing them classroom and hands-on workplace training in China. Students will have chances to understand contemporary socio-political and workplace culture in China and also brush up their Putonghua skills. This summer, about 100 students will work as interns for six weeks in various business operations, research centres as well as government offices in major cities in China. Another 100 students will attend a four-week training programme on contemporary China.
