The Faculty of Medicine, The Chinese University of Hong Kong, hosted a one-week visit for the delegation from the National Association of Presidents of Teaching Hospitals of Medical Universities from 5 May to 11 May, 1997. The delegation, led by the former Director of the Drum Tower Hospital of Nanjing, Professor Tao Yin, consisted of 15 members who are all directors of the teaching hospitals of renowned medical universities in China. The editor of the Chinese Hospital Management Publication Station also came along with the delegation to cover the visit and to bring back to Mainland the valuable experience from Hong Kong.

During their visit, the delegation joined a seminar on "Challenges for Teaching Hospitals" organized by the Faculty of Medicine, CUHK. Participants discussed and exchanged experience in various issues including administration, finance management, teaching and research faced by teaching hospitals. The seminar has successfully promoted understanding between medical professionals in Mainland and Hong Kong and paved the way for future collaboration.

The delegation then visited the Faculty of Medicine, CUHK and its teaching hospitals, including the Prince of Wales Hospital (New Territories East acute general hospital), Shatin Hospital (district rehabilitation hospital) and Hong Kong Eye Hospital (specialist hospital). The Chinese visitors also toured around the newest hospital in Hong Kong, the Alice Ho Miu Ling Nethersole Hospital in Tai Po (district acute general hospital). Discussion on the operation of hospitals in Hong Kong was also held with Dr. W M Ko, Deputy Director of Hospital Authority.
