RHODES SCHOLARSHIP 1995

The Rhodes Trust invites applications for a Rhodes Scholarship tenable at the University of Oxford from October 1995.

The Scholarships were established by Sir Cecil Rhodes, and since 1985, students from Hong Kong have been honoured as Rhodes Scholars. The aim of the Scholarships has been, and remains, to attract scholars who are good 'all-rounders', fully developed individuals, possessing in equal parts the three essential kinds of training: the discipline of mind that comes with academic training, the training of body achieved by physical sport, and maturity of emotion, vision and heart.

Last year, the Rhodes Scholarship for a Hong Kong resident was awarded to Mr. Wong Ming-fung, who was then in his final year in Business Administration in The Chinese University of Hong Kong. Mr. Wong will be leaving for Oxford in October to pursue a bachelor's degree course in law at Wadham College.

Applicants, who should be unmarried Hong Kong residents who have passed their nineteenth but not their twenty-fifth birthday by October 1, 1995, must have received at least ten continuous years of education in Hong Kong and have obtained an Honours degree by October 1, 1995. Preference will be given to those who have not received any part of their tertiary education in the United Kingdom.

The Scholarship will be tenable for two years but may be extended for a third, and will cover all university and college fees (exclusive of board and lodging), an economy class airfare to and from London, and a personal allowance of at least £6,480 sterling a year. The successful candidate may elect to read for a postgraduate degree or a second Bachelor's degree.

Application forms for the Scholarship are obtainable from the Registry, The University of Hong Kong or the Office of Student Affairs, The Chinese University of Hong Kong. The closing date for applications is September 30, 1994. For enquiries, please contact Miss Wong at 609-7209.

For press enquiries, please contact Mrs Shirley Kwok of the University's Information and Public Relations Office at 609 8897.
