新聞稿 PRESS RELEASE

Following the introduction of Postgraduate degree programmes in Basic Medical Sciences, Computer Science, and Government and Public Administration last year, The Chinese University of Hong Kong will launch the Master of Philosophy Programme in Music this September and is now inviting applications for admission into the said programme.

In addition to the general qualifications required for admission to the Graduate School, applicants to the programme should hold at least a bachelor's degree in Music, with honours not lower than Second Class Lower Division, or a suitable equivalent. Entrance Examination subjects will include the Chinese Language Admission Test, TOEFL, a Music Subject Test and an interview for local applicants.

The total requirements of the programme normally take two years to complete. Students will enroll in Research Methods and Bibliography, Advanced Musical Analysis or Research Methods in Ethnomusicology and other electives courses totalling eighteen units in the first year. Twelve more units will be taken in the second year on Thesis Research and other elective courses.

Each student is required to submit a fairly extensive thesis and is expected to have a reading knowledge of a third modern language other than Chinese and English.

Application forms and information sheets are obtainable from the Graduate School Office of The Chinese University located on the Lower Ground Floor of the University Administration Building, Shatin, and The Chinese University Three-year MBA Programme Town Centre at 98 Granville Road, East Ocean Centre, Unit 308, Tsimshatsui East. All applications should reach the Graduate School on or before 26th February, 1983.
