Civil Service Careers Exhibition

A two-day Civil Service Careers Exhibition is being staged at The Chinese University of Hong Kong. The Exhibition was opened by the Hon. E.P. Ho, Secretary for Trade and Industry; Mr. J.M. Rowlands, Secretary for the Civil Service and the Hon. W.C.L. Brown, Chairman of the University Appointments Board, at a brief ceremony held yesterday (November 1).

The Civil Service Careers Exhibition, located at the University's Sir Run Run Shaw Hall, is arranged by the University's Appointments Service in collaboration with the Civil Service Branch of the Government Secretariat. This Exhibition aims at providing the students of the University with a comprehensive picture of career opportunities in the Civil Service. A total of 24 Government units have participated in the Exhibition, including the Administrative Grade, Executive Grade, Home Affairs Branch (Chinese Language Division), Education Department, Government Laboratory, Royal Hong Kong Police Force, Customs and Excise Department, Inland Revenue Department, Census and Statistics Department, Social Welfare Department, Transport Department, Immigration Department, Correctional Services Department, Recreation and Culture Department, The Treasury, Lands and Works Branch, Medical and Health Department, Government Supplies Department, Housing Department, Radio Television Hong Kong, Labour Department, Fire Services Department, Government Data Processing Agency and the Civil Service Branch. These Departments also undertake to offer counselling service where students may seek advice from experienced Government Officers on the spot.

The annual Exhibition first introduced in 1979 has attracted large number of viewers throughout the years.

November 1, 1984.
