CHINESE UNIVERSITY STAGES ORIENTATION DAY FOR SIXTH-FORMERS

The Chinese University of Hong Kong (CUHK) organized an Orientation Day for Form six students today (February, 6) at the University campus.

The six faculties, namely Faculties of Arts, Business Administration, Medicine, Science, Social Science and the newly-established Faculty of Engineering, were open to the sixth-formers. Through a variety of activities such as seminars, video shows and counselling sessions, students were given the latest information on the facilities and academic programmes of the University, particularly the new programmes including Japanese Studies, Nursing, Pharmacy and Architecture. Environmental Science and Food Science, the upcoming programmes in the 1993/94 and 1994/95 academic year respectively, were also introduced to the visitors.

Prof Tam Sheung Wai, Pro-Vice-Chancellor of the CUHK and Chairman of the Organizing Committee of the Orientation Day, officiated at an opening ceremony held in the Sir Run Run Shaw Hall of the CUHK. As the University celebrates its 30th anniversary this year, Prof Tam invited the public to participate in the anniversary programmes such as the large-scale exhibition to be staged in City Hall from March 26 to 29 and the CUHK Open Day in November. Senior staff members and faculty representatives were also present at the opening ceremony to discuss with the visiting students matters relating to university programmes.
