新聞稿 PRESS RELEASE

The Chinese University of Hong Kong announces the appointment of Mr. T.L. Tsim as Director of The Chinese University Press.

Mr. Tsim had worked for the BBC in London and the TVB in Hong Kong before he joined The Chinese University as Assistant Secretary in 1977. In 1979, he left the University to work for the business sector. Mr. Tsim joined the University again in January 1983 when he was appointed Administrator of the newly-established Part-time Degree Programmes. He was later made concurrent Director of The Chinese University Press, succeeding Mr. Richard Lai who retired in October 1983.

Since the late 70s, Mr. Tsim has become well-known as a writer for several leading newspapers in Hong Kong and as a commentator of current affairs. In addition, he is very active in Hong Kong's public life. Mr. Tsim is a Lay Assessor and a member of several Government advisory bodies, including the Broadcasting Review Board, the Citizens Advisory Committee on Community Relations of the ICAC, and the Statistics Advisory Board.

Mr. Tsim is to assume the full responsibility of the Directorship with effect from August 1, 1984.

July 30, 1984.
