The Chinese University offers new PhD programme in Chinese art history

The Graduate School of The Chinese University of Hong Kong will be offering for the first time a PhD degree programme in Chinese art history in the academic year 1992-93.

The programme is established by the Fine Arts Department of the University. It aims at training students to become specialists and professionals in Chinese art history, and further promoting scholarly study of this field in Hong Kong. The programme will be research-oriented, but a student will be required to take additional courses if necessary.

Applicants for this PhD degree programme are required to fulfil the following:-

- 1) hold a master's degree in Chinese art history or in a related discipline conferred by The Chinese University of Hong Kong or any other recognized universities;
- 2) furnish proof of his/her capability in doing research such as his/her master's thesis or publications;
- 3) provide highly favourable recommendations by academic referees.

The deadline for application is February 29, 1992. Application forms are available from the Graduate School at The Chinese University (Tel 609-8977; Fax: 603-5197). Requests for further information can be directed to the Department of Fine Arts at 609-7615.
