CU Offers Pioneering Sports Science Master's Degree

Starting from this September, the Department of Sports Science and Physical Education, of the Faculty of Education at The Chinese University of Hong Kong, will offer a new Master of Education (M.Ed.) programme in Sports Science and Physical Education. This programme provides in-service professional training to personnels in the health, fitness, sport, recreation, and physical education sectors, helping them to assume a leading role in the development of sports and physical education in Hong Kong.

This M.Ed. programme is a two-year part-time degree which enables students to specialize in various fields related to sports science and physical education: (1) Management of Physical Education, Sport and Recreation; (2) Exercise Physiology; (3) Sports Biomechanics; (4) Sports Psychology. In addition, students are free to elect other courses offered by the Faculty of Education such as research methods, curriculum design, philosophy of education, educational psychology or courses by other departments to broaden their horizons towards education. This is the first and only programme of its kind in Hong Kong.

Application forms for enrolment are obtainable from the General Offices of the Graduate School, Faculty of Education and Department of Sports Science and Physical Education. For more details, please call the Department of Sports Science and Physical Education at 609-6096 or the Graduate Division in Education at 609-6904. The deadline for application is July 16.

Besides the new M.Ed. programme, the Department of Sports Science and Physical Education of The Chinese University of Hong Kong also offers full and part-time programmes leading to bachelor degree (B.Ed.) in Physical Education and Master of Philosophy degree (M.Phil.) in Sports Science and Physical Education, fostering professionals and researchers in Sports Science and Physical Education at different levels in Hong Kong.

For press enquiries, please contact Mrs Shirley Kwok of the University's Information and Public Relations Office at 609-8897.
