新聞稿 PRESS RELEASE

At a brief presentation held at The Chinese University of Hong Kong yesterday (June 26), Mr. H.G. Webb-Peploe, Managing Director of The Shell Company of Hong Kong Limited, presented a cheque for HK$100,000 to Professor G.H. Choa, Pro-Vice-Chancellor of the University.

The gift was to enrich the University's Shell Scholarship Endowment Fund which was first established in 1965 following a donation of HK$200,000 from The Shell Company to provide scholarships for outstanding graduates who wish to pursue graduate studies in the United Kingdom. In 1980 the Fund received an additional sum of HK$200,000 from The Shell Company to cope with the rising cost of living and increase in tuition fee in the United Kingdom. Yesterday's donation has brought the value of the Fund further up to HK$500,000.

Since its establishment in 1965, the Scholarship Fund has supported up to seven Shell Scholars, five of whom have been awarded Ph.D. degrees. The current Shell Scholar is Mr. Wong Kwok-fung, a B.Sc. and M.Phil. graduate of The Chinese University, who went to Cambridge University in 1982 and is working on a doctoral programme in Biochemistry.
