新聞稿 PRESS RELEASE

After many years of deliberation and planning, The Chinese University of Hong Kong has established a new Department of Architecture and admitted its first class of 52 students in September. The Department will provide undergraduate and graduate professional programmes in architecture leading to careers in architectural offices, Government, real estate and the construction industry as well as teaching and research.

The Department is now temporarily located in a new addition on the second floor of the Chung Chi College Library Building. There is a large studio with individual work stations, classrooms and a faculty office area. A Computer Laboratory will also be in operation later in the year. A new home with a floor area of 2,800 square metres for the Department is scheduled for completion in 1993. It will include an architecture library, studios, offices, computer and multi-media laboratories, meeting rooms, workshops and environmental laboratories.

To commemorate the establishment of the Architecture Department, an inauguration ceremony will be held on Tuesday, October 8, 1991 at 5:00 pm. The Hon G Barnes, Secretary for Planning, Environment, and Lands will officiate at the ceremony.
